THE SALT LAKE HERALD.

SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH, SUNDAY, AUGUST 30, 1908

The Frisking of Caribou Joe

By SEWELL FORD

Copyrighted by the Associated Sunday Magazines, Incorporated.

kind of receiver for all such that's then I knows it must be Caribou Joe. missed the squirret house. I'm as He's a little, squizzled up old chap, limber up any more'n a length of gas paid money to have been there and seen

Now, Mrs. Purdy Pell's just the other me just then; so I falls into step alongway. She's a born mixer, she is; and side of Joe, hits him a pat on the back, so long as it's her makes out the invitation lists, you're liable to run into all "Hello, Caribou! How's things up tion lists, you're liable to run into all "Hello, Caribou! How's things up sorts out to Rockywold. Not that Puralong the Allegash?" dy don't try hard enough to be sociable; but unless he gets in with his own kind the minute I makes the play. Joe goes he acts about as much to home as an right up in the air, side steps into a icicle at a May party-you know, one pussy old party with a cane, caroms of them human cold storage plants.

their little fads. Trout fishin' is his. raises a panic. You let anyone come along and open "Hay!" he squeals. "You quit that up about fly rods and click reels and or I'll lambaste ye!" brush castin', and Purdy thaws out like "Don't get excited now," says I, tryin' a water pipe that's been given the bon- to calm him down; "I'm onlyre test. He's about the last man you'd "I know ye, gol ding ye!" says he, ook for to develop any sportin' blood; edgin' off. "You're one of them bunkum ut I guess it's there. Every spring he fellers, Scat!" coes way off into Maine, where all the places has names ending in "untic" I. a couple of weeks.

Maybe I'd heard about his havin' heen up there this year, and maybe I hadn't. The news wouldn't have kept he wants me to take you out to his house. See, here's your picture he gave me."

Well, that soothes him a little, and me awake nights, if I had. But when after I've said it over three or four he shows up at the studio the other day times, and give the run to a couple of he seems to take it for granted that I've butt-ins that tried to take Joe's part, had a full report and know all the de- he looks me up and down real careful going to do about Caribou Joe." "That so?" says I. "Is it glanders, or for trouble.

a touch of the mange that ails him?" "Beg pardon," says he; "I don't get the connection. "Me either," says I. "You was sayin' trottin' horse or a bulldog." Why," says he, "Caribou Joe is my trip to the city." "Well." says I, "if he's a guide he What's the trouble?"

Pell, "and unfortunately there is a di- I had him goin' just right. rectors' meeting which prevents my "What's your particular line. meeting him at the train, as I promised says I.

"That's too bad," says I. "Now, if I knew this Joe of yours by sight, I'd just as soon sub for you as not."

'Oh, you couldn't help knowing him after he had once been described," says Pell. "Besides, I have a photo of him in my pocket, and if it wouldn't be too much trouble, professor, I should be-" says I. "Show us his "Why, sure!" map, and I'll try my hand at the retrievin' act.'

Say, you'd think I'd been stung times enough to know better'n that, wouldn't you? But that first offer of mine was only a bluff, and when he took me up on it unexpected there was nothin' to do but look cheerful. He don't leave me any chance to renig, but starts in givin' me a description and life hist'ry of this Caribou gent. gone to his head. Accordin' to Purdy, Joe could smell trout lyin' under a log at the bottom of a twenty-foot pool and nesmerize him into thinkin' he was hungry for rubber flies. Anyway, this think he'd caught all the fish and killed last trip he'd steered Pell to a place all the game the Maine woods ever prohe caught 'em big enough so they didn't need much lyin' about, and hero stunts all he needed was room to Purdy has such a spasm of gratitude swing himself. Compared to him, a Ri- Europe, 41 per 1,000 each year. that he turns around and invites Joe to alto hamfatter admittin' how good he dest spot on the chart. Joe shies at first; but after Purdy gets home and coat and exhibit his medals. It was a Mrs. Pell hears him tell what a wonder Joe is, she makes him send another invite wraped up in railroad passes. Grand Army badge to a silver shield That fetches him. I'll bet if it had been one way pass to the Main Sulphur

a free ride. And he was due on the 4 o'cloc.c Boston express. 'It's awfully kind of you," says Pell. "There isn't another person I could trust with this errand; for Joe is such a wild, impulsive fellow-rather a desperate character, I fancy. But you have the knack of managing such-"Say," says I, "I didn't know they grew any bad men up Bangor way. What's his specialty, gun fightin' or

Works, Joe wouldn't have missed takin'

"Well, really," says Pell, "I can't say that he is as bad as that. In fact, I up like a clam.

have never seen him do anything really violent or vicious; but I have gathered, from things he has said, that perhaps he was somewhat of a desperate character when he crossed.' "Oh, you got it from him, did you?"

a wild strain in Joe that might make the coachman. him bloodthirsty at times, if not handled right.

his appetite for gore all the way to New enjoy his visit." York. I'd look nice, wouldn't I, bein' chased down Fifth avenue by a moss-

But Pell says that as soon as I mention his name there won't be any trouble, and all I has to do is to spot Joe round to the New Haven local, take him most life size. out to Rockywold, and hand him over

Grand Central waitin' in the concourse. holdin' a snap-shot picture in one hand, and lookin' sharp for a stoop shouidered, long haired gent, with a pair of little black eyes, and a grizzly mustache long enough to tie under his chin. If I hadn't always tended out reg'lar on the sportin' shows at the Garden. maybe I'd been expectin' somethin' pic- that's gettin' together here for an early turesque in the way of costume; but start on the southern circuit. But even I've seen enough Maine guides to know with a backer that's a willin' purformer that they're apt to hit town dressed to on the check book, Leonidas is havin' the minute, even if it takes the last cel- his troubles. luloid collar in the box. So I was debennet string lip whisker. That's why, he.

Say, if you've got any dippy relations | walks, I come mighty near overlookin' freak friends comin' to town, or if the party in the coon skin cap and the u're expectin' anybody that's trou- red sash. Just as he's passin', though. d with enlargement of the ego, just I gets a glimpse of the six-inch soup 'em my way. I seem to be a strainers and the rat terrier eyes, and handy as a day nursery in a department | wearin' felt boots with rubber bottoms. store, and as willin' as a new hired girl. a blue flannel shirt, and pockets all over When it comes to references, there's it. Slung over his shoulder is a blan-Purdy Pell. I've just been doin' a stunt ket roll with a coffee pot and a fryin' for him that ought to get me a recom- pan strapped on top; but, outside of mend. It ain't clear to me yet, though, somethin' wrapped up in a newspaper, how I come to be put on the job. that's all the baggage he has. From Course, I know him more or less, havin the cockin' tools, it looks like Joe wa'n't been out to his place on the sound a few goin' to take any chances on missin' times, and he's been one of my reg'lars | Pell and findin' all the taverns shut up. here at the studio for quite a spell; but He was fixed to camp on Broadway or can't say we ever got real thick. anywhere else. Say, he was a nice arti-Purdy Pell ain't that kind. He couldn't cle to step up and claim in a crowd. I'd

Purdy Pell done it. But it was up to

It was the wrong openin': I see that off against one of them red capped bru-Still, even the frostiest of 'em has nette baggage wrastlers, and nearly

"Ah, can that kind of hollerin"!" says "I'm subbin' for Mr. Purdy Pell, and "bago," and stays with the game Joc. He couldn't be here himself, and he wants me to take you out to his and concludes to take a chance. I didn't "Professor McCabe," says he (it's lose any time about leadin' him into the never Shorty with him, always profes- smokin' car of the local; but even after sor), "I really don't know what I am I'd got him stowed safe his little rat eyes was dartin' four ways watchin'

'You're all right now, Joe." says I "Mebby so," saye he: "but I got $14 sewed inside my shirt, and the man that gits it has got to take it off my dead something about some Joe or other; but body. I'm Caribou Joe, b'gosh!' you didn't mention whether he was a "Well," says I. "you look it.

"Well," says I, "you look it. I hear you're a bad man in a muss, too." And say, I could see right away that old trout guide—the best guide in the was the lead to follow. His eyes snaps Rangeleys-and he is making his first and his chest begins to swell out.

"Where'd you hear that?" says he. "Well," says I, "if he's a guide he ought to be able to find his way round knows about you," says I. "They says a place that's as well labeled as New you're the ripsnorter of the Rangeleys." That fetches a great big grin out of "He is coming as my guest," says him, and inside of about two minutes

"Injuns," says he, tappin' himself on the breastbone. "I don't cal'late to talk much about it: but when it comes to Injun fightin', I'm to home. "Didn't know them Bangor Injuns went on the war path often," says I. "Bangor!" he snorts, "Guess you mean Oldtown? Wall, them kind don't. That's why I ain't never had a chance to show what I'm made of; but if ever start west once, after them Si-ox and Aypaches, you'll hear of things that'll make yer blood run cold.y

"Ain't tackled any of 'em vet, then?

"No," says he: "but I've read lots about the cusses in books. See?" And what do you suppose he shows nuck who'd drifted over the border into them waybackers get some queer bub-Maine so long ago that he was almost a bles in their gray matter, eh? Here native, and had worked up a reputation was this old rooster, almost old enough in the guide business that must have to be a granddaddy, and goin' daffy over such stuff as that.

Well, I jollies him along, and he pulls the throttle wide open. Blow! Why, to listen to him dope it out, you might duced, and that when it came to the of 12 per cent of sugar.

Next thing Joe does is to open his coin. collection that most covers his shirt that the insect has been known to front; and they was all kinds, from a puncture a sea shell. won at a turkey shoot. I judged that tories, which annually produce $800,000 most of 'em had been faked up by city sports that wanted to string him; but Joe seemed as proud of the lot as if be established by the Japanese prefecthey'd all been presented by congress.

It was a heap easier to start Joe talkin' about himself than it was to switch bacteria were found at the rate of about him off: but at last I strikes the com-"I expect Mrs. Pell will be glad to see

"Huh!" he grunts. "I don't want to see no women.

"What's wrong with the ladies," says

"Oh, I guess you'll take to Mrs. Purdy Pell," says I.

But that's where I wa'n't a prophet. She's waitin' at the station with the rig; but Joe wouldn't so much as shake hands with her, and when she moves over to make room for him on the same He had. He thought, too, there was seat, he sniffs and climbs up alongside

"What a delightfully odd character he s," says Mrs. Pell to me. "He's all of that," says I. "Hope you

With that I goes back to town, glad enough to get him off my hands; and when I fetches the studio who should I meet comin' out but my old side partner, Leonidas Dodge, all rigged out in sporty clothes and wearin' a puff tie when he gets off the express, steer him with a Brazilian diamond horseshoe al-

"Gee, Leonidas!" says I, "you look like money was easy and you'd let some So that afternoon finds me over to the Bowery tailor go as far as he liked. Why the noisy uniform?" "It's part of the business, son," have you?" says I. I might of known he hadn't. He ex-Deadwood Dick Wild West company.

"You ain't gone to makin' a book.

discovered in a never-before explored Charles Darwin, whose theories he has section of Brazil. "It's because the noble red man is pendin' mostly on spottin' Joe by the gettin' to be such a scarce article," says "Never saw anything like it before on, the tunnel through the Cordilleras, and on Sept. 2 will in a speech defend when the train pulls in and the pro- in the hist'ry of the tent show business. to connect Valparaiso and Buenos his belief that plants have minds and cession begins to form on the asphalt Here I am offering forty-five a month, Ayres, will be completed in 1910.

"Hello, Caribou! How's things up along the Allegash?"

were broken when an invention of three Professor Brown of Yale university will

French naval lieutenants was operated spend ten years more in studying them department are working together in the developed as soon as railroads now un-ing plant.

packed on ice.

killed by electricity.

in several southern states.

Seventy per cent of the gold in the

So powerful are the jaws of a wasp

Japan has thirty-two timepiece fac-

A $10,000,000 hydro-electric plant is to

In a recent test in Paris rain water

Drying fruit by the sun's rays is be ing scientifically done on an enormous

Humming birds are disappearing from Trinidad. In 1868 there were cently were completed for use on the

The aged inventor of the Mauser rifle fires twenty-five shots at a single load-

Many excellent voices are ruined, ac-the navy is experimenting, bores its would equal a lump of coal weighing

A western Nebraska farm is being compared with 968,174 tons in 1906.

City Railway company's has now perfected a new weapon which tend their life.

A new type of torpedo, with which delicate instrument.

Twelve all-steel sprinkling cars worth of clocks and watches.

fifty-seven to the cubic inch.

scale at San Jose, Cal.

ture of Shizuoka.

Chicago

tracks

rooms.

ploding.

half a ton.

municipality of Paris.

inally tin boxes.

Russia's death rate is the highest in vention of Professor Lippman of Paris,

a pioneer in color photography.

and the Canadian government is plan-

Berlin is having great success with ning to more than double the distance

its experiments with a suspended mo-vantageously in extremely narrow

Wireless telephony records recently successfully for a distance of 310 miles.

The American Museum of Natural

History and the Canadian Geological

Over 400,000 rubber trees have been

make a thriving industry certain with-

A big Pennsylvania coal mining company will erect an extensive plant to treat railroad ties and other timbers

The rainless Atacama desert of north- warmed.

with creosote and zinc chloride to exern Chile is the scene of the greatest

The use of the microphone in fishing of the finny tribe is transmitted by the

By curling or waving human hair claims to prevent it becoming gray. His

Using extremely delicate instruments

The familiar shaving paste known as

After working on his theory for ten exceeded in many ways, has been electalmonds to give it a flavor.

the French Academy of Science is ex-data about the Eskimo.

in a few years.

In the world last year there was pro- industry of the kind in the world, yield-fertilizers.

duced 964,910 metric tons of lead, as ing enormous quantities of nitrates for cording to the French Academy of is undergoing a series of experiments

Medicine, by practicing in too small in Europe. The noise made by schools

The human lungs exhale each day an theory is that grayness is caused by

Some of the finest French tapestry perimenting with an unknown force,

Two hundred and forty thousand "Creme d'Amande," is made by melting wooden paying blocks a day are turned one part of caustic potash into three out by a new machine owned by the parts of lard, with sufficient essence of successfully irrigated by a home-made years, General Goulaeff, a member of

be practically inexhaustible, has been Francis Darwin, son of the famous

At the rate that work is now going ed president of the British association, are intelligent.

A new supply of rubber, believed to both unsinkable and uncapsizable.

is manufactured so slowly that an supposed to be electrical in nature, giv-amount of carbon which, if solidified, microbes, which the heat kills.

artist cannot produce more than two en off by the human body.

board and transportation free, and the a scrubby bunch of Cattaraugus county the reservations of the great west I month, and me rehearsin' 'em in the up? A roll of nickel lib'ries, same's best I can do towards assemblin' my basket makers, that never wore a they're supposed to be; but say, where yip-yip chorus until my throat is sore! you see these D. T. kids and office boys troupe of genuine war chiefs, each and blanket in their lives, and wouldn't I've been boarding 'em over in Brook- I'm even showin' some of 'em how to Seems that Joe was a French Ca- readin', in the subway trains: Say, every one of whom was in the thick of know a snake dance from the minue. lyn they kick if they don't have fresh handle their guns. That's what comes the fight at Wounded Knee, is to collect Wild, untutored savages, straight from napkins every meal.

ing minute observations of the moon,

to determine the moon's exact position.

mountain region of Alberta.

A new coal field, estimated to contain

After thorough tests covering a num-

When a pest of eels threatened to interfere with the operation of the Snow

Mountain Power company in Califor-

Despite opposition from the Japanese government, the department of agri-

455,000 plants of the grasses used in American financial aid has been asked than in any other nation, the losses per capita in the last five years have been nearly ten times as great as in the leading six European nations.

nia, a wire netting was sunk in the

I'm even showin' some of 'em how to Forty-five a of overdoin' this Wild West game, Shorty. Well, I sympathizes with Leonidas.

and promises to take a run over that NEWEST NOTES OF SCIENCE evenin' and watch him put his gang of near reds through their drill. I was just gettin' ready to do it, too, when Mrs. Pell gets me on the wire. She wants to know if I can't come out to The best beet root yields an average A photographic process which gives The human body contains over 2,000 Rockywold right away. both perspective and relief is the in- miles of tubing. "It's that horrid guide," says she. The department of agriculture has demonstrated that Chinese and Japan- death, threatened the butler with a Already electric power generated by ese bamboo can be profitably grown in knife, and now he's in the library rolled come down and have a look at the red- was could be convicted of bein' modest. possession of man is in the form of Niagara Falls is distributed 125 miles, this country, and will experiment with up in a Turkish rug before the fireplace. snoring dreadfully. I have a lot of drouth-resistant forms from India. China's new torpedo boat destroyers, built in Germany, have an indicated that he can't get out till late, and we it. He stands it a couple of minutes, horse-power of 6,000, and made 35.2 don't know what to do." norail railroad, which is operated ad-knots on their trial trip, and 33.6 knots "Haven't tried turning the hose on with a cruising load of fuel on board.

him, have you?" says I. After spending fifteen years in mak-

"Oh, we wouldn't dare," says she Purdy has told me all about how desperate he is. I don't want to send for the police; but I thought perhaps you "Sure!" says I. "I've got one right 45,000,000,000 tons of anthracite, will be handy. We'll be out on the nine-thir-

collection of an immense amount of der construction reach the Crow's Nest Course, I'd thought of Leonidas and With a blow pipe using a mixture of his basket makers. I makes a break for planted on the Hawaiian islands, the acetylene and oxygen, steel and copper the subway, catches a bridge express. hikes across to Brooklyn, and rushes eighteen species; now there are only experiment proving so successful as to sheets a quarter of an inch thick may into the hall where Dodge was holdin' be welded more cheaply than riveted. his Injun kindergarten. A temperature of 6,000 degrees is used.

To cover a pulley with leather, use a warm solution of crushed nutgalls in give your braves some field work, and hear anything, he simmers down. mingle a little with the fat wads at the eight parts of rain water on the leather same time, jerk half a dozen out of the I killed?" says he. and a concentrated solution of glue on front row and follow me.

the pulley, which also should be ber of years, the officials of the Rurhe begins to hustle. He loads up a cou- er a few scalps for souvenirs?" lington railroad have declared that conple of suit cases with feather bonnets, rete ties are unsatisfactory, and have cowboy pistols, and blank cartridges, to go back up to the lakes." decided to build a large wood preservpicks out his squad, and off we starts to the rescue. On the way up we plans his traps, and starts him north on the By wrapping them in a new vegetable the campaign. And that's where next train that comes in. Purdy Pell paper, fish caught off the Portuguese Dodge's dramatic talent comes out coast are delivered in Belgium sixteen strong. days later in better condition, as re-

"Leonidas," says I, after he's told me way into the hull of a ship before ex- with a hot iron, a Russian scientist gards freshness and flavor, than when the scheme he's thought up, "you hadn't ought to be managin' a phony Wild West show; you ought to be runnin' a been givin' the folks a little outdoor

When we gets up to the Rockywold gates I leaves Dodge and his crew bestream and thousands of the eels were hind and goes in alone. Mrs. Pell and a lot of other ladies has barricaded themselves in the parlor; but comes out when I shows up and almost culture has succeeded in obtaining falls on my neck.

matting, and will experiment with them she, just the way the heroine does in a "Say, I think you might have played for the erection at Montpeller, France. me on with a little snare drum music,'

"Thank goodness, you're here!" says windmill, the fans of which were orig- the Institution of Naval Architects, has of a memorial to the late Gustav Fox, says I, grinning. announced that he can render ships whose work on the grape vine phylloxera and other vitacultural questions are built a fire in there, and we didn't know well known to the horticultural world. what he would do next. riave you Despite the fact that fires are fought brought help?"

more scientifically in the United States "A wagonload," says I. Then I tells her not to get scared if she hears a little racket outside, bethere wa'n't goin' to be any damage a vacuum cleaner."

done. Next I tiptoes over to the lib'ry and does a little scoutin'. Caribou Joe is camped out in front of the fireplace, as cozy as if he was up in the tall timber. He has woke up from his snooze and is squattin' in front of the fire makin' himself a cup of coffee. For a first call, he was actin' right at home. I sneaks to the front door and holds up a lighted match, just as Leonidas has said, and then I goes back and butts in on the Terror of the Range-"Joe," says I, "didn't I hear you say somethin' about your just achin' to get a whack at real, sure enough Injuns?" Joe don't deny it. He's ready to go over the whole story again; but I cuts him off.

"Then your chance has come at last," says I, "and you'll never have another like it as long as you live."
He looks kind of suspicious, and wants to know how. "How?" says I. "Why, there's Injuns around this house this very minute. I've come to get you to help me wipe 'em out. They're a band that was brought on from the plains to go in a show; but they must have got away from their keepers, for they're cavortin' around outside like so many red devils. There's no tellin' when they'll break in and scalp all these helpless women folks."

"Injuns?" says Joe. "I don't believe no such durned yarn." "You don't!" says I. "Listen to that. then! There it goes again! Hear 'em! Say, Leonidas didn't run a Sagawa show two seasons for nothin'. Them war whoops, the way they was handin' 'em out would have done credit to old Sittin' Bull himself.

"Come on, Joe!" says I. "We've got to drive 'em off or die in the attempt." But Joe didn't make any grand rush to get at 'em. As near as I could judge by the symptoms, he was gettin' ner-

"I'd like to," says he: "but I ain't got a wepping of any kind about me, nothin, but my hunting knife, and if they're real Injuns I wouldn't stand no show at all. Now, if I only had my old deer rifle, or even a pistol-" "Here you are; take your pick," says flashin' a couple of overgrown Colts.

T've got a box of cartridges, too. Come There goes their yell again. Gee! but I'm glad you're here! I'll follow an old Injun fighter like you anywhere, Come, let's rush 'em!" I'd got him by the elbow and was pushin' him out the front door by that time; so it was a case of must. It was a mighty nice moonlight night, but there was so many bushes and trees around the grounds that the shadows were plenty and black. "Git behind one of them trees, quick!" says Joe, all excited.

So we makes a run for it; but we hadn't got half way before there came a bang! bang! and half a dozen bushes was lit up by flashes. "Oh, lordy, lordy!" groans Joe, and then he streaks it for the tree like he was a hundred-yard champ. "Git out!" says he, when I comes up. "Go find a tree of your own."

"Not much!" says I. "I'm goin' to stick by you and watch the slaughter. Why don't you get busy? "I'm waitin' to shoot at some of them flashes," says he. He didn't have to wait long. The opened up again, and Joe lets back. 'And say, I'll be hanged if he wa'n't goin' about it cool and businesslike. He might have been some scared at first; but the minute he gets to work his nerve comes back, and he acts like a man who means to do a good job. Course, he didn't know that nothin' but Fourth of July ammunition was bein' burned, and I begun to see that behind all that bluff there was some real grit "There," says Joe, crackin' another

"I'll bet a doughnut one of them pesky redskins bit the dust then!" I guess it was lucky for them Cattaraugus braves that Joe was shootin' nothin' but powder.

"Look out!" says I. "They're crawlin

Blamed if it wa'n't better'n anything Buffalo Bill ever put on to see them turkey tail bonnets wrigglin' along, and the moonlight shinin' on the pistol bar-'He's frightened all the maids half to rels. Dodge has spread out his crowd so that they had us cut off from the house, and was closin' in gradual.

Joe, he lets fly a couple of times; but guests here, and Purdy has sent word over he don't know what to make of and the next thing I know he heaves up a yell you could have heard forty blocks, and starts over the sod on the jump. I keeps on after him the best I can, and the whole bunch trails after, shootin' and yellin' to beat the cars. It was a hot pace he was settin', and we a posse, or something like that, and—" left 'em behind like they was all stand-

Joe was headed towards the station, and by the time I'd got there he has turned over the baggage truck and has his knife out, preparin' for the last stand. I knew Dodge had called off his crowd at the gates and had gone back to let Mrs. Pell into the game.

"It's all over, Joe," says I. He wouldn't believe it for a spell; "Leonidas," says I, "if you want to but after he'd listened and couldn't "How many do you reckon it was that "I lost count." says I, "but you put It don't take much argument to get up as gamy a fight as I ever saw. As Leonidas warmed up to a proposition of an Injun slayer. Joe, you're all right.

that kind. Soon's I've named the place, Want to go out and see if you can gath-"No," says he, "I can't wait. I've got

So I telephones for 'em to send down gets off one car just as Joe climbs in another

"Hello there, professor," says he What's up now? "Nothin' much," says I. "only we've melodrammer.'

'Where is Caribou Joe?" says he "Him?" says I. "The Terror of we Rangeleys? Oh, I've just loaded him into the smoker there. He's goin' back they to the woods to tell 'em about the Battle of Rockywold."

Then we goes up to the house, where Mrs. Pell is givin' the basket makers a swell midnight spread, and everybody has a lot of fun tellin' how scared Joe was. But say, I ain't so sure he didn't come pretty near makin' good his bluff,

ALWAYS A WAY.

(San Francisco Bulletin.) "Fido shakes the water over everything

"Why don't you correct him?"
"Oh, we couldn't correct little cause nobody's goin' to get hurt, and We've arranged to give him his bath with